Parents, ask your child to:

1. Read the cloze passage below
2. Fill in the blanks - each blank contains one missing word. (The next page contains a list of the missing words in random order, to make the task easier for younger children. If your child's reading is still at a beginner's level, you may like to read the completed story with them first, before they attempt to fill in the blanks.)

It was Christmas morning!

Sarah and Oliver raced into the living room and headed straight for the _____ tree. There were several _____ underneath it, wrapped in beautiful red paper.

"I wonder which ones are mine!" said Oliver excitedly.

He looked at the first present and _____ the card. "This one is for you, _____"

His sister eagerly unwrapped the present.

"Wow, this is the doll I wanted!" she smiled happily.

The next present was also for Sarah and, to their surprise, so was the next. Sarah reached for the last present. "This one will be for you for sure, _____. It will be the best present of them all!"

But, no! The last present was for Sarah too. Oliver was very _____. He could not believe that he had not received a single present.

Just at that moment, mom and dad appeared.

"_____ Christmas everyone," said dad. "Time for breakfast!"

"Let's all go outside for a second first though," said mom. "It is such a lovely day!"

All _____ of them walked outside. Oliver felt so sad he was nearly crying.

"Wow! Look at that!" exclaimed Sarah.

Oliver looked to where she was pointing and his eyes _____. There, against the tree, was a brand new, gleaming bicycle.

"Is that for me?" he asked, barely able to believe it was true.

"It sure is," said mom. "It must have been too big for Santa to fit down the chimney."

Oliver and Sarah raced over to take a closer look at the _____.

"Merry Christmas," said dad to mom, and they both smiled.

- Below is the completed cloze passage, with the missing words in red.
- Note that for some blanks several different words could have been chosen. As long as the word your child has selected fits in with the story and is grammatically correct, this is fine.

It was Christmas morning!

Sarah and Oliver raced into the living room and headed straight for the Christmas tree. There were several presents underneath it, wrapped in beautiful red paper.

"I wonder which ones are mine!" said Oliver excitedly.

He looked at the first present and read the card. "This one is for you, Sarah."

His sister eagerly unwrapped the present.

"Wow, this is the doll I wanted!" she smiled happily.

The next present was also for Sarah and, to their surprise, so was the next. Sarah reached for the last present. "This one will be for you for sure, Oliver. It will be the best present of them all!"

But, no! The last present was for Sarah too. Oliver was very sad. He could not believe that he had not received a single present.

Just at that moment, mom and dad appeared.

"Merry Christmas everyone," said dad. "Time for breakfast!"

"Let's all go outside for a second first though," said mom. "It is such a lovely day!"

All four of them walked outside. Oliver felt so sad he was nearly crying.

"Wow! Look at that!" exclaimed Sarah.

Oliver looked to where she was pointing and his eyes widened. There, against the tree, was a brand new, gleaming bicycle.

"Is that for me?" he asked, barely able to believe it was true.

"It sure is," said mom. "It must have been too big for Santa to fit down the chimney."

Oliver and Sarah raced over to take a closer look at the bike.

"Merry Christmas," said dad to mom, and they both smiled.
